Our Source of Motivation & Inspiration

Guru Ram Das Ji (1532 - 1581) was the fourth of the Ten Gurus of Sikhism and was given the title of Sikh Guru on 30 Aug. 1574. He was planner and creator of the township of Ramdaspur which became the sikh holy city of Amritsar. Guru Ramdas Ji was not merely a constructive genius who planned and founded a new city and instituted an original missionary order but also a poet of great sensitivity and tremendous effect.

He Composed 679 hymns in varying musical measures, which were incorporated into Adi Granth by his son and successor, Guru Arjan Dev, His whole life embodiment of love, devotion, dedication and service.
